DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fukuda (US 5,125,217) in view of Ball (US 5,890,644).

Fukuda discloses a packaging machine comprising a cylindrical chute with means for bending a film S into a tubular form 103; a heater unit 55 for longitudinally sealing overlapping side edges (figure 1); heater driver means 59, which moves heater unit between retracted and operating positions (figure 8); and an air cylinder 78 for controlling the compressive force of the heater unit 55 and film S. The air pressure is regulated at a specified level. Unlocking a locking mechanism allows for a further retracted position of the heater unit 55 from film S by motor 45; see column 7, lines 10-15.

Fukuda does not disclose heater driver as another cylinder, but discloses "different combinations of motion-communicating and torque-communicating means can be substituted." (column 8, lines 34-36). Ball teaches a clamping device with movable arm 24 that can be actuated by well known alternate means including an air cylinder, lead screw, or motor etc.; see column 6, lines 25+.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to substitute an additional air cylinder in place of screw axis 59 for assisting in the movement of heater 55.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 11/2/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Motor 51 assists in rotating the belts. In response to applicant's argument that an air cylinder would not be compatible, the test for obviousness is not whether the features of a secondary reference may be bodily incorporated into the structure of the primary reference; nor is it that the claimed invention must be expressly suggested in any one or all of the references. Rather, the test is what the combined teachings of the references would have suggested to those of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981).

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
